Mayor Healy Announces 2-Hour Free Parking In Municipal Lots for Holiday Shopping Alternate-Side Rules will be Suspended Between Christmas and New Year's

JERSEY CITY – Mayor Jerramiah T. Healy and Jersey City Parking Authority Director Mary Paretti announced today that from Monday, Dec. 5th through Monday, Jan. 2nd residents will be able to park for two hours free of charge in any of the city's municipal parking lots while they shop for the Holidays.

“We want to encourage our residents to support our small businesses throughout the City during the holidays and two hours of free parking will certainly help them do that,” said Mayor Healy. “Everyone should take this opportunity to shop local and support their neighborhood small businesses.”

Alternate-side parking rules will also be suspended the week between Christmas and New Year (Dec. 26th through Jan. 2nd), but the sweeper will still sweep the streets. Any cars that do not move will not be ticketed. During that week, however, zone parking and meters will still be enforced.

City-owned municipal lots are located at:
